Peter Gibson

Since taking over SPS and patching, our old team and new team have realised how much you've kept the train going behind the scenes for all these years making sure the fleet is properly patched, with constant edge case issues at every step. I don't think people understand how much work goes into what you did to keep the lights on. Thanks for doing that Gibbo. Also thank you for the extended hand over. Not sure it will ever end so you might just need to stay on behind the scenes. :D
